

THE NEW ATLANTIS

A JOURNAL OF TECHNOLOGY & SOCIETY

NUMBER 28 ~ SUMMER 2010

ESSAYS:

Getting Over the Code Delusion 3

Steve Talbott on epigenetics and the demise of DNA as destiny

How Can I Possibly Be Free? 28

Raymond Tallis on the neuroscientific case against free will, and why it's wrong

Hiding Behind the Screen 48

Roger Scruton on the risks of friendship and the costs of shirking them

Environmentalism as Religion 61

Joel Garreau on energy sinners and carbon Calvinism

Churchill on Science and Civilization 75

Justin D. Lyons on politics and the humanities, war and peace, in the age of science

REVIEWS & RECONSIDERATIONS:

The Science of Self-Help 85

Algis Valiunas on goofy advice, dubious wisdom, and neuro-gurus

Disenchanted Determinism 101

Caitrin Nicol reviews novels by Richard Powers and Rebecca Newberger Goldstein

HAWTHORNE SERIES:

From Hearth-Fires to Hell-Fires 111

Diana Schaub reads three tales on the flames of progress

LOOKING AHEAD, LOOKING BACK:

Shoot First, Get Copyright Later 134

Lighter-than-Air Follies 135
