

THE NEW ATLANTIS

A JOURNAL OF TECHNOLOGY & SOCIETY

NUMBER 49 ~ SPRING/SUMMER 2016

---

THE INTEGRITY OF SCIENCE

- Editor's Note 3
- Saving Science 4
Daniel Sarewitz on why scientists must come out of the lab and into the real world
- Two Cheers for the Retraction Boom 41
Ivan Oransky and Adam Marcus praise the growing scrutiny of scientific publications
- A Different Kind of Scientific Revolution 46
Barbara A. Spellman on the role of technological and demographic changes
- ESSAYS:*
- Getting Over 'Apolloism' 51
Rand Simberg on why the 1960s missions to the Moon are a bad template for today's space program
- Is There an 'Unmet Need' for Family Planning? 61
Rebecca Oas dismantles the concept behind efforts to increase global contraceptive use
- European and American Views on Genetically Modified Foods 77
Orsolya Ujj on the cultural and philosophical differences that explain contrasting beliefs and policies on GMOs
- Fiction in the Age of Screens 93
Erik P. Hoel on how today's novelists cope with their HBO anxiety
- Scientist, Scholar, Soul 110
Marc D. Guerra on Margaret Edson's play Wit and the temptation to hide from matters of ultimate meaning
-